INDEPENDENT.

DEADHEADISM.—Some of the metropolitan papers, especially the N. Y.
Herald, and the Cincinnati Commer- cial, seem dreadfully exercised because country editors, in compensation for publishing railway time tables, are sometimes furnished with free passes over the lines for which they do this work. It seems to us but a fair business transaction, and why these huge newspaper men are so solicitous about the matter is a little singular. If it is their sympathy for our moral status lest we should be purchased and corrupted by these railroad subsidizers, and thus induced to palliate the shortcomings of these corporations, why we ought to feel thankful for such disinterested benevolence. But we can't see that we are humiliated by what they call deadheadism, for in the matter of independence of thought we are pretty well satisfied that neither of the authorities referred to is a model by which we are to be governed, although they both are characterized by a certain pertness of style which many take for freedom of expression, when it is assumed because it brings money to the proprietors. We don't wish to intimate that these would be models of moral splendor are actuated by purely mercenary motives—though they seem to like money hugely; and have been successful in gathering large sums—but when they take to such missionary labors unasked and unsought for, the question naturally raises with many of us, whether such exhorters had not better take a little of their own advice.
In candor we must admit that many of the country brethren of the press are guilty of shortcomings, but will they think of looking to these would be reformers of their dark ways as spiritual guides, especially when it is a sort of Godsend to a them to give all the particulars of a brutal prize fight or a heathenish hanging, in order to cater to the appetite of many of their readers?
We think we can deny with some assurance of success that because a man has a railroad pass he is a suborned wretch, as the reasoning of these reprovers would seem to imply. It is not a necessary consequence that because a man thus takes his pay for doing a certain class of work, that he therefore surrenders an iota of his independence.
We ought, of course, to heed the good advice of our city cotemporaries, and trust that we as a class do pay due deference to their admonitions; but because a man, or a set of men, are at the head of huge, influential daily papers we don't conclude that they are infallible—we country folks therefore take the same liberty of criticising their course that they assume in giving us directions. Nor do we impugn the motives of these censors, for it is their privilege to lead us into the right way if they imagine we are off the track; and we trust that they will accord to us the same freedom of expression in regard to their course.

We much regret to notice in the last number of the Monitor, that the Alliance College has ceased to exist. That institution deserved a longer lease of life, and we hope that it will again re-surrect, after the present financial troubles are over. The building is a fine one, and its friends will not let it be vacant long, if they can possibly prevent it.

LIGHT AND DIGESTION.

BY DIO LEWIS, M. D.

Very intimate relations exist between the sun and digestion. Digestion and assimilation becomes weak and imperfect if the man or animal is not daily exposed to the direct rays of the sun.
Mr. P., one of our merchants came to see me about his stomach. Dyspepsia was written all over his face, was shown in his movements, and heard in his voice. The conversation between us was essentially the following: Mr. P., Doctor, if you will excuse a street vulgarism, I am played out. I can't digest, I can't work, I have lost my courage, I fear I must stop.
'Tell me about your diet.'
'If you will excuse me, I know that is all right. I have studied the subject, and I know my food is all right.'
'How about your exercise?'
'I have a little gymnasium in my store, and exercise an hour or two every day. I sometimes tire myself out with those exercises.'
'How about your sleep?'
'Why, doctor, I go to bed every night with the chickens. At any rate, I am always in bed by 9 o'clock, and I rise by 6 o'clock in the morning, take a bath, a plain breakfast, and go to my counting room. Once in the forenoon and once in the afternoon, I exercise in my gymnasium half an hour or so, but I am getting worse all the time.

In it's curious? Mr. W. thinks I must have a cancer in the stomach.
Nothing seems to help me. I live a most physiological life, but my digestion grows worse and worse.'
'About your counting room; is that light? is it sunny?'
'No, that is one nuisance we have in our store. The store is every way pleasant, only that the counting room is so dark we have to use gas nearly all the time.'
'That's it, Mr. P., that explains your cancer.'
'Of course you don't mean that; but I suppose it would be better if the counting room was sunny.'
'Why, Mr. P., no plant or animal can digest in the dark. Try it. Plant a potato in your cellar. Now watch it carefully. If there is a little light, that potato will sprout and try to grow.
But surround it with the best manure, water it, do the best you can for it, only keep it in the dark, it cannot digest and grow. See how slender an pale it is. Now open a window in another part of the cellar and notice how the poor hungry thing will stretch that way. Or give the stalk a little twist and see how it will lie down. It has no strength to rise itself again. No matter how much of the best food and drink you give it, it can't digest. The process of digestion, the great function of assimilation, can't go on without the sunshine. Why, sir, with your excellent habits, if your counting room were in a flood of sunlight, you would be better in a week and well in a month. Mr. P., did you ever go into the country late in the summer? Of course you have been.
Well, did you never notice where grain is growing in orchards that the part under the trees is smaller than that outside and away from the trees? The land is actually richer there. For years the leaves have fallen and de-cayed, but notwithstanding this, the wheat is only half size and never fills well. Now, what is the difficulty?
The sun shines upon it more or less.
Yes, that is true, but that under the trees does not receive as much sunshine as that away from them. That which is thus partly in the shade can't digest so well. Why, sir, if you will move your counting room up stairs, in front, and stand where the sun can have a chance at you, even though it is only three or four hours a day, you will begin to digest your beef better within three days. Have you ever noticed that the only grapes that become perfectly ripe and sweet, that the only peaches that take on those beautiful red cheeks, and offer that luscious sweetness, are those that are on the outside, entirely uncovered by leaves and perfectly exposed to the sun? God's laws are the same in the animal world. It is true the only girls with red cheeks and sweet breaths, the only girls who become perfectly ripe and sweet, are those who baptize themselves freely in God's glorious sunshine. Don't you see a good many pale girls in your store, girls with a bloodless, half baked sort of face, whose walking, whose voice, whose whole expression is devoid of spirit and force? Those girls are in the green state. Look at their lips and cheeks; they are not half ripe. Send them out in the country, let them throw away their parasols, put on their little jockey hats, and live cut in the sunshine three months, and I would give more for one of them in any work requiring soul and spirit, than for a dozen of those pale things that live in the shade.
A pale woman! She makes a very good ghost, but not much of a woman.

THE SOCIETY UPON THE STANIS-LAUS.
I reside at Table Mountain, and my name is Truthful James.
I am not up to small deceit or any sinful games.
And I'll tell in simple language what I know about the row
That broke up our society upon the Stanislaus.
But first I would remark, that it is not a proper plan
For any scientific gent to whale his fellow-man.
And if a member don't agree with his peculiar whim To lay for that same member for to "put a head on" him For nothing could be finer or more beautiful to see Than the first six months' proceedings of that same Society.
Till Brown, of Calaveras, brought a lot of fossil bones
That he found within a tunnel near the tenement of Jones.
Then Brown he read a paper, and he reconstructed there?
From those same bones an animal that was extremely rare
And Jones then asked the Chair for a suspension of the rules.
Till he could prove that these same bones were one of his lost mules.
Then Brown he smiled a bitter smile, and said he was at fault, It seemed he had been trespassing on Jones' family vault:
He was a most sarcastic man, this quiet Mr.
Brown,
And on several occasions, he had cleaned out the town.

Now I hold it not decent for a scientific gent To say another is an ass—at least, to all intent:
Nor should the individual who happens to be meant,
Reply by heaving rocks at him to any great extent.
Then Abner Dean, of Angel's, raised a point of order—when A chunk of old red sandstone took him in the abdomen.
And he smiled a kind of sickly smile, and curled up on the floor, And the subsequent proceedings interested him no more.

For in less time than I write it, every member did engage In a warfare with the remnants of a paleozoic age,
And the way they heaved those fossils in the air was a sin.
Till the skull of an old mammoth carved the head of Thompson in.

And this is all I have to say of these improv-er games.
For I live at Table Mountain and my name is Truthful James.
And I've told in simple language what I know about the row.
That broke up our Society upon the Stanislaus!

DEATH AND THE GRAVE.

A FAULT.

'I am hungry,' said the Grave.
'Give me food.'
'Death answered:
'I will send forth a minister of awful destruction, and you shall be satisfied.'
'What minister will you send?'
'I will send alcohol. He shall go in the guise of food and medicine, pleasures and hospitality. The people shall drink and die.'
And the Grave answered:
'I am content.'
And now the church bell began to toll, and the mournful procession to advance.
'Who are they bringing now?' said the Grave.
'Ah,' said Death, 'they are bringing a household. The drunken father aimed a blow at his wife. He killed the mother and her child together, and then dashed out his own life.'
'And who,' said the grave, 'comes next, followed by a train of weeping children?'
'This is a broken hearted woman, who has long pined away in want, while her husband has wasted his substance at the tavern. And he, too, is borne behind, killed by the hand of violence.'
'And who next?'
'A young man of generous impulses, who, step by step, became dissipated, and squandered his all. My agent turned him out to be frozen in the street.'
'Hush!' said the Grave, 'now I hear a wail of anguish that will not be silenced.'
'Yes, it is the widow's cry. It is the only son of his mother. He spurned her love, reviled her warning, and a bloated corpse he comes to thee. And thus they come—farther than the eye can reach, the procession crowds to thy abodes. And still lured by the enchancing cup which I have mingled, the sons of men crowd the paths of dissipation. Vainly they dream of escape, but I shut behind them the invisible door of destiny. They know it not, and with song and dance and riot, they hasten to thee, O Grave! Then I throw my fatal spell upon the new throngs of youth, and soon they too will be with thee.'

SOMETHING FOR OUR YOUNG READERS.

Our very pleasant cotemporary, Hearth and Home, tells its young readers how to take a coin out of the water without wetting the hand, and this is their method: Fill a plate with water to the depth of about a quarter of an inch; a coin is then placed in the water; a piece of paper is then lighted, and put, while burning, on the surface of the water, and covered with a tumbler. As the paper burns under the tumbler, the water will rush under it, and leave the coin in the plate, when it may be lifted without wetting the fingers. This is a very interesting experiment, as it affords a good illustration of the expansive power of heat, and of the pressure of the atmosphere.
But we will tell our young friends of a more wonderful and equally simple method of doing the same thing. Suppose you were required to take a coin from the bottom of a deep jar, or even a pail of water, without wetting your hand, and suppose further that your naked hand was thrust through the water, how do you suppose it could be done? Simply by shaking a little lycopodium, (substances that may be procured cheaply at any drugstore), over the surface of the liquid. Then plunge your hand, boldly, but steadily into the water and it will not wet you in the least. The cause of the water's not wetting the hand is the same in principle as that which causes the dew drop to stand in sphenical drops on the cabbage leaf, and the water to roll off a duck's back without wetting it.
By a somewhat similar power, spiders and other insects walk on the surface of the water without wetting themselves, and without sinking in the liquid to any perceptible degree.

MODES OF SALUTATION.

The usual salutation at Cairo is,
'How do you sweat?' a dry hot skin being sure indication of a destructive ephemeral fever.
The Greenlanders have none, and laugh at the idea of one person being superior to another.
Islanders near the Philippines, take a persons hand or foot and rub it over their face.
Laplanders apply their nose against the persons they salute very strongly.
In the Straits of the sound, they
dressed, pass it gently over the right leg, and thence to the face.
The inhabitants of the Philippines bend very low, placing their hands on their cheeks, and raise one foot in the air with the knee bent.
The Dutch who are considered as great, have a morning salutation, common among them, Smakelykteen.
May you eat a hearty dinner. Another is, Hoe waart uwe? How do you rail?
adopted, no doubt, in the early periods of the republic, when they were all navigators and fishermen.
Some author has observed in contrasting the haughty Spaniard with the frivolous Frenchman, that the proud steady gait and inflexible solemnity of the former were expressed in his mode of salutation, Come esta? how do you stand? while the Com-met vous portez? how do you carry yourself? was equally expressive of the gay motion and incessant action of the latter.

In some parts of Africa, a young woman, an intended bride, brings a little water in a calabash, and kneeling down before her lover, desires him to wash his hands. When he has done this, the girl, with a tear of joy sparkling in her eyes, drinks the water. This is considered the greatest proof she can give him of her fidelity and attachment.

An Ethiopian takes the robe of another and ties it about him, so as to leave him almost naked.
The Japanese take off a slipper, and the people of Arracan their sandals, in the street, and their stockings in the house when they salute.

Two negro kings on the coast of Africa salute by snapping the middle finger three times.
The inhabitants of Carnie, when they show particular attachment, open a vein and present their blood to a friend as a beverage.

If the Chinese meet after a long separation, they fall on their knees, bend their faces to the earth two or three times, and use many other affected modes. They have also a kind of ritual, or academy of bows, by which they regulate the number of bows, genlexions, and words to be used on certain occasions. Ambassadors practice these ceremonies forty days before they appear in court. The common salutation in the southern provinces of China, among the lower order, is, Yaf-n? Have you eaten your rice? In Otaheite they rub their noses together.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

The laws lately passed by the Legislature of Ohio to regulate the holding of primary elections for candidates for office, or delegates to attend nominating conventions, is in substance as follows:

Sec. 1 provides that any primary election or primary meeting for the election of delegates may be held under the provisions of the act, if the central or controlling committee shall so decide in published notice, which shall state the authority under which the call is made; and the name of the supervisor of who is to preside at the polls. The notice must also state the qualifications of persons who are to vote at such elections.

Sec. 2 provides that the above notice shall be published in some newspaper of general circulation in the district, ward, precinct, township, city or county within which the election is to be held, also posted in three places for five days before the election.

Sec. 3 provides for administering an oath to the Supervisor of Election, that he is a legal voter in the district, etc., within which the election is to be held, and will conduct the election according to the provisions of the act; also, that he shall cause the electors present to choose two Judges and Clerks, who shall take the same oath as the Supervisor. Violations of this section are punishable by a fine of fifty to five hundred dollars, and imprisonment in jail from one to six months, or both.

Sec. 4 provides for the challenging of electors to ascertain if they possess the qualifications named in the previous notice, and whether they are citizens of the United States, are legal voters in the township, etc., where the election is held, have not voted before at that election, and has not been directly or indirectly bribed; and votes shall be accepted or rejected according as the question touching these points are answered. The Supervisor or Judge violating the provisions of this section, and any person swearing falsely as to his qualifications shall be liable to the penalties for perjury.

Sec. 5 provides that any one not possessing the qualifications under the conditions prescribed in section 4 who shall be subject to not exceeding one hundred dollars fine and imprisonment in jail, on bread and water, ten to twenty days.

Sec. 6 provides the same penalty for any one bribing or receiving a bribe for a vote at an election, under the act as laid down in section 4, beside disqualifying him to vote, at any subsequent election under the bill. Intimidating an elector, or disturbing any election under the act, is punishable with not over one hundred dollars fine, and twenty to thirty days in jail.

Sec. 7 provides that no primary election shall be held under this act unless the notice for such election so declares.

Sec. 8 provides that the indictment under this act shall be found by the Grand Jury; and that no expense shall be incurred to the county or State for holding an election under its provisions.

GAIL HAMILTON VERSUS SCOT- LAND.

So long as we talk about the stars and the gases, central fires and Supreme ether, we spin famously, for nobody can contradict, but the moment we descend into the region of human life and observation, science begins to wobble. You may tell me as authoritatively as you please that the smallest spot on the sun is fifty billions of miles in diameter, or that Neptune consists chiefly of hydrocyanic acid, and I can only make great eyes at you, and get my living by day's work all the same, while you go up and down in the newspapers for a sayant, become an honorary member of the learned societies, and wag a tail to your name twenty letters long. But when it comes to practical availability, it is your turn to make great eyes. I want to build a cot beside a hill where a beehive's hum shall sooth mine ear, and I call in vain upon the learned, far and near, to answer me the simple question: How many cisterns of water can there be in a round pot big as a brick chimney torn down? Response is none, for the question is a practical one. You can measure the sun, hit or miss. A few millions of miles, more or less will never be detected, but if my water works run dry, ruin and disgrace impend. You do well not to commit yourself.

THE USUAL SALUTATION.

The usual salutation at Cairo is,
ephemeral fever.
The Greenlanders have none, and
superior to another.
a persons hand or foot and rub it over
their face.
Laplanders apply their nose against
the persons they salute very strongly.
dressed, pass it gently over the right
leg, and thence to the face.
their cheeks, and raise one foot in the air with the knee bent.
The Dutch who are considered as
great, have a morning salutation, common among them, Smakelykteen.
May you eat a hearty dinner. Another
is, Hoe waart uwe? How do you rail?
navigators and fishermen.
Some author has observed in contrasting the haughty Spaniard with

Two Dollars a year, in advance.
Massillon, Wednesday, March 22.

The senate committee, which was appointed months ago to examine into troubles in the south, especially into the doings of the murderous ku klux, have published their report, and the secretary of the republican organization at the capital city has furnished us with a copy of the same. The developments this brief report embraces are terrible to contemplate. They prove that there is an oath-bound, secret political organization in the southern states, whose obligations impose on its membership the work of mobbing and murdering union men, either white or black, and their oaths are of such a nature as to shield each other from the penalties of the law; and although hundreds and thousands of republicans of all colors have been mobbed and others have been murdered, not a single murderer has been punished for these outrages. The state authorities seem impotent, or are indifferent, or may be sympathizers with these bands of ruffians—at least they do nothing to afford protection. For this reason congress has been asked to extend to these persecuted people the protection they so much need, but even that body hesitates and thus far has not done any thing in this way. In such an emergency what shall the persecuted people do? Many of them have been driven from their homes, while thousands of others have been mobbed and murdered with impunity. A day of retribution will certainly come, and we be to the ku klux when it does arrive.

In a political sense every single member of this bloody order is a democrat, and their terrible oaths require of them to oppose, and if need be to slaughter every G. A. R., every republican, and every negro, who becomes obnoxious to them. There is no other excuse for this procedure whatever, and the only theory that can be devised in their favor is, that this is the plan they have adopted to bring about democratic rule—that is, and nothing more. Now that party may shout over its petty triumph in New Hampshire, but when it comes before the American people as a national organization, it has, in addition to its rebel sympathies and its participation in a bloody war for the overthrow of the union, to carry the load of southern murderers and ku klux on its back, and it can't get rid of them. Can such a party succeed?

In the new conference appointments Rev. Wm. Hunter is presiding elder of this district. Bro. Hingley is returned here, Revs. Endsley and Baker to Canton, Lynch to Salem, and that is as far as we can find out what was done.

Unfortunate France! Monday's papers inform us that bloody conflicts have taken place in the streets of Paris. Thiers, the acting president, has issued a proclamation warning the insurgents to keep the peace. It is sincerely to be hoped that this much afflicted people will see the necessity of acting the part of good citizens. The German troops have all left Paris.

Our railroad men, we notice by papers elsewhere, are actively and vigorously at work, and we are pleased to see are meeting with merited success. Wherever they have been business men and the people generally give assurances of strong sympathy in behalf of the movement. Especially is this the case both north and south of us—everybody seems to be wide awake. Our bro. Clark of the Wadsworth Enterprise is full of the spirit of go ahead in the matter, and the people of that region, where the proposed road is expected to be located, are eager to do all they can in the work. As Massillon is so deeply interested in the work, we are certain that our people will not withhold a liberal measure of support in this behalf, and help make the north and south road a living and working reality, and that at no distant date. As the crossing is to be here this city will realize quite as much advantage from the improvement as any place on the line.

In the language of scripture it seems as if the French are unstable as water. Since the conclusion of the war they have been vacillating and changing from one phase of opinion and party to another, so that it is difficult for us at this distance to even guess what kind of a government they will practically adopt. The probability now is that it will be anything but republican, and that seems unsuited to the leading spirits of the nation; and the people appear to be unprepared to assume the popular form of rule—they have so long relied upon their leaders that they are unwilling to change to anything of a radically different character. At this time we can't tell whether Na-poles or some other ambitious man is to wield the scepter of power—but that is their business, and we hope they will satisfactorily settle it. The plan of government has also been a subject of controversy, and the last account seems to locate it at Versailles. That will be an improvement, as Paris is too gay and fast a town for a sober matter of fact seat of government.

Mr. Higby, a lawyer at Alliance, has a colored student, represented as a bright, promising young man, who is preparing himself for the profession of law. As lawyers are a necessity—some say a necessary evil—there is no reason why a black as well as a white man should not be one of the profession.

J. W. Morrison, an attorney who has been practicing his profession at New Lisbon for many years, and who was traveling for his health a few days ago met with a serious accident on the railroad, at Pittsburgh. He was getting off a car when the train started suddenly, throwing him down violently and in such a position that a number of wheels passed over his left arm, and seriously injured his jaw. He was found in an unconscious condition, but papers that were about his person indicated who he was and where he lived when home. He was cared for, and the surgeons decided it necessary to amputate his arm, which they did—his father and brother were soon with him, and hopes are entertained that he will recover. Mr. M. has always been an exemplary man, and the accident is not attributable to intemperate habits. He has the sympathies of his numerous friends.

Among the benedictions pronounced on the Mount is that celebrated discourse that was delivered nearly two thousand years ago, in which is embodied the whole duty of man, there is one that without an idea of irreverence, we might slightly modify to suit the times. It is there said, "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled." To suit some of our modern politicians it might be paraphrased thus: Earnest are they that hunger and thirst after office, for they want to be filled badly. For instance, the democracy have hungered and thirsted for the benisons of office for about sixteen years down in New Hampshire, and in other states for longer or shorter periods, and in the nation high on to twelve years. On this point they are gaunt with hunger, and the little bite that the Granite State affords will hardly pay for the salt needed to season the morsel. We cannot feel to envy their success, after nibbling so long, for it has sorely tried their patience to thus bite nothing but the naked hock. Perseverance has brought a meager reward, and they are not sure of having other equally successful nibbles. This, however, will stimulate to further effort, and it will not be surprising if they should succeed in a few more cases. It will depend very much upon how the republican party behaves. If it gets off the track—plays tricks that are bad—loses its high profession and ends, and is meek in its devotion to men or cliques, then in the short future we may look for a political revolution. No party can stand long nor should it, that is not based on the eternal principles of right. To be permanent the democracy, then, will have to make many a long stride in the right direction, otherwise a victory for that party will be but a temporary achievement.

The New Hampshire election took place on the 14th inst., and for the first time in sixteen years the democracy has carried the state by a small majority, electing three congressmen, the majority of the legislature, and came near choosing the governor. If the report is correct that the party has the legislature in both branches then they will have the governor too. On account of this result the party is flopping around with an uncommon amount of fuss and feathers, and establishing its long pent up roosters, who have not have so good a crow for several generations of shabby chickens. Well, we suppose it is all right—the granite people have so willed it. But what is the cause of the revolution? It is primarily the want of votes on the part of the lately predominant party, and the abundance of the same in favor of the others. There are other causes tending to this result, and among them is very generally supposed to be the Sumner difficulty. This election is a significant sign that the republicans have something to do if they would retain the ascendancy, besides bragging on what they have achieved.

The last number of the Niles Independent gives a detailed account of another murder from the use of strong drink. Not that one man shot, or stabbed, or otherwise violently disposed of the victim—but he was taken off in the usual manner, by repeated doses of the murderous stuff, sold by heartless grogsellers. The poor man was again and again taken in and cared for by the temperance organizations at various times, and while in their charge was a good sort of person—industrious, reliable and useful both to himself and those by whom he was surrounded. But, as with thousands of others, he was unfortunately seduced into some of the drinking dens, furnished with that bane which is sure death to him who uses it, and the last document concerning him was the coroner's inquest deciding that he came to his death by the use of intoxicating liquors. Here is another reason for the friends of temperance to continue vigorously at work, and for those who are indifferent to wake up ere some of them may share a fearful fate.

The Sumner difficulty, as it is called, to which allusion was made last week, has turned out to be a bigger elephant than was at first supposed. Although a majority of the senate undertook to snub him, or make him know his place as they claimed, a very large portion of the American people, and the ablest journalists of the country, as well as prominent men in other professions and associations, are not slow in metering out merited reproof to the extraordinary and uncalled for course of that body; and the way in which they are snubbed and reprimanded by the people bears a significance that the most obtrusive of them will not fail to apprehend. That vote don't put down Mr. Sumner nor does it elevate his opposers, but on the contrary it only serves to weld his friends more firmly to him and his principles—and the brief of it is, these very opposers of the distinguished senator will soon be seen following in his footsteps. This is just what they have been doing for years, and they will continue to do so; for although hated and cursed by hankers and conservatives of various classes, they have been compelled to follow the footsteps of one who has dared to think his own thoughts and speak them out to the world, so that not only our own but other nations might hear and respect them. Mr. Sumner is gaining friends that are worth having, while those who would crush his fame will be destined to lose what popularity they have achieved—he is a leader in great thoughts, broad and comprehensive theories, while his traducers are more of the character of bigots, who are impatient of toleration of opinion. Their ephemeral spite will soon pass away, while the statesmanship of Mr. Sumner will live in the history of our country.

In many respects we are up to the times, while in others we are a great ways in the background. As to having public lectures, it appears that we can't succeed, although many efforts have been made. Our neighbors all around us are out of sight ahead in this particular. At Wooster, Miss Dickinson lectures to-morrow evening, and this evening Olive Logan lectures at Salem. At the last named place Miss Susan B. Anthony recently gave the people a very able lecture. Now here are three speakers, each of whom has a national reputation for ability as a public speaker, and neither of them has stopped here, though they have spoken to audiences near us, and passed right by our doors. We hope the Y. M. C. A. organization will take the matter of securing lecturers in hand, and procure the attendance of some of these distinguished speakers.

The Washington Star tells us that the ladies at the Capitol have to a great extent banished wines from their parties, and are now beginning a crusade against cigars in the gentlemen's dressing rooms.

NEW 7-30 GOLD LOAN.
Safe! Profitable! Permanent!
Jay Cooke & Co., offer for sale at par and accrued interest the first Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Co.

These bonds are secured, first, by a First Mortgage on the railroad itself, its rolling stock, and all equipments; second, by a First Mortgage on its entire Land Grant, being more than twenty-two thousand acres of land to each mile of the road.
The bonds are free from United States tax; the principal and interest are payable in gold—the principal at the end of thirty years, and the interest semi-annually, at the rate of seven and three tenths per cent. per annum.
They are issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000.
The trustees under the mortgage are Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and J. Edgar Thomson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Co.
These Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds will at all times before maturity, be receivable at ten per cent. premium (or 1.10) in exchange for the company's lands at their lowest cash price.
In addition to their absolute safety, these bonds yield an income larger, we believe, than any other first class security. Persons holding United States 5-20's can, by converting them into Northern Pacifics, increase their yearly income one third, and still have a perfectly reliable investment.
How to Get Them. Your nearest bank or banker will supply these bonds in any desired amount, and of any needed denomination. Persons wishing to exchange stocks or other bonds for these, can do so with any of our agents, who will allow the highest current price for all marketable securities.
Those living in localities remote from banks, may send money, or other bonds, directly to us by express, and we will send back Northern Pacific bonds at our own risk, and without cost to the investor. For further particulars pamphlets, maps, etc., call on or address the undersigned, or any of the banks or bankers employed to sell this loan.

LOCAL MATTERS.

An oyster supper will be given by the ladies of the Good Templar's Lodge, at this place, next Friday evening, at the residence of Solomon Cridger, Main street, west of the canal. They respectfully invite their friends to come and participate in the good things which will be provided for the occasion. Their cause is a good one—help them.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will have a social at the Tremont House on to-morrow evening, 23d inst. Refreshments will be served up. Go—it will be good to be there.

Next Monday evening the Dime Society of the Disciples church will meet at the house of Mr. Charles London on East street. They have very pleasant times at these meetings—many of us have been there to see.

Public sales will be held as follows: The executors of the estate of the late Wm. Brown, deceased, will offer for sale a considerable amount of stock, farming implements &c., on the farm in Jackson township on the 23d inst. The old calaboose will be offered for sale on the 25th inst. John Martin, at Richville will have a public sale of various articles at his residence, on Saturday, April 1. Jacob Brodbeck 2 miles west of West Lebanon, will sell stock and farming implements on Tuesday, April 13th.

The sign, "Cash for Hides," between the windows of the Y. M. C. A. rooms, has been removed as requested through the columns of the Massillon American. Would it not have been quite as convenient and more christian like, to have reminded the proprietors below, of it privately, instead of going all the way to the printing office? The obnoxious sign would have been removed speedily and cheerfully, without having the matter made quite so public.

W. R. DePuy & Bro., publishers of Health and Home, N. Y., have furnished us with No 1 of this new monthly. The reader will find much good advice in its pages in regard to the preservation of health. Its contents consists of brief, pointed articles, and one essential feature about 'is, that it instructs the reader how to avoid sickness—a most important trait in any publication of this character.

The Catholic church at Brookfield has just suspended in it a new bell, the tones of which can be heard in town on a still calm evening.

Mr. Jacoby has about completed a large, capacious shed or building, in which he has introduced steam machinery for the purpose of manufacturing bricks. It is so arranged that he can make and burn bricks at all seasons, so he seems now well prepared to supply the demand for this indispensable article in building. Some thing of that kind has long been needed here, and M. J. well deserves the liberal patronage of our citizens, which no doubt, will be extended to him.

Our enterprising neighbor of the Wooster Republican has been treating that excellent paper with a new dress of body type, which greatly improves its appearance.

We have two horn bands here, one of which has been organized several years, and the other a new one. They give our citizens, occasionally, music, free to all. The members of both these organizations are making laudable efforts in the way of improvement, and for the time they have been engaged in practice will compare favorably with similar bodies elsewhere.

The liquorists are uneasy, as they not only see but begin to feel that there is something in the signs of the time which is to materially affect them. They are concerned about our liquor laws in Ohio, and for months have been petitioning for their repeal. We are pleased to see that our temperance friends are alive to this movement, and are busy also petitioning our legislature against repealing these laws, and if they make any alterations, let them be such as to give strength thereto. We must be at work here.

The Illustrated Christian Weekly is the title of a beautifully printed quarto, by the American Tract society, New York, at $2 a year. This first number is made up of matter appropriate for such a paper, contributed by distinguished writers of prose and poetry. Having no advertisements, and all the productions being original should commend it to the attention of all who take an interest in such questions as it discusses and places before the reader.

The frogs that sing in the primary department, in one syllable, and using but one note, have been concerting in this vicinity for several evenings.

Spring school examinations will begin on Monday next the 27th inst. at the Union School House, and will continue the remainder of the week. The primary departments are first to be examined, and so on up to the higher grades. As is usual on such occasions all who feel an interest in education are invited to attend.

The Massillon customers of Dewees & Barber, the well known hat and cap dealers of Canton, will be pleased to learn that on the 1st of April they will open a branch establishment at room No. 2, Opera House, this city.

To the people of Massillon and the surrounding country, we would say, go to their opening, even if you don't want to buy, and see the new and nobby styles that have just come out for the spring trade. Both Dewees and Barber are names so well known in connection with the hat business in this country, that it is unnecessary for us to say anything further, except that they have better eastern connections now than ever before. Mr. Barber has for the last three year been at the head of the market in New York and will buy direct from manufacturers with many of whom he is personally acquainted. We welcome this firm, and consider it a valuable acquisition to the business names of our city. Doubt not, but they will have a patronage from the start that will be both encouraging and flattering.

Bro. Williams, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was called away, having suddenly one day last week, received a telegram, informing him of the unexpected death of his mother in law at Cincinnati. For this reason there was no preaching at the Presbyterian church on last Sunday evening.

The latest spring styles of HATS and CAPS, just received at N. Minich's hat store. 409-6m

We are credibly informed that after the first of April the evening train from Cleveland will carry the mail. A good thing.

The best and largest assortment of HATS and CAPS, you can find at N. Minich's, and 10 per cent lower in price than any other establishment west of New York.

The mayor has issued his semi-annual anti whiskey proclamation, and all interested will govern themselves accordingly. This law has the tendency to keep a good many men sober on two days in the year, and the same power that made that law can also make one which will take in the other days of the year.

Go and see the nice SILK HATS just received at N. Minich's.

Another evidence of the prosperity of business in our city is the establishment here of a new hat and cap store by Messrs. Dewees & Barber. Our citizens, at least a large number of them, will welcome this enterprising firm, and do so in a practical way which shall mean business. It seems to us that there is ample room here for their enterprise, as we have a vast number of people among us who are in the habit of wearing hats and caps.

Mr. D. McDonald, we are informed, has sold his interest in the grocery establishment of McDonald & Bruce to Mr. James Bruce, the last named member of the firm. Mr. B. will continue business at the old stand, and has as partner Mr. O. Ulenendorf, a reliable and experienced business man.

Peddlers of lager, strychnine, benzine and their intermediates have just been having a hard time of it at Wooster. Legions of their customers were summoned to appear before the legal authority of Wayne county, in the shape of a grand jury and other judicial functionaries, and the aggregate result of their contribution to the treasury was over fourteen hundred dollars. This is making the trade practically useful to community—more so than when they are manufacturing criminals, paupers and other imbeciles, ready for the tax payers to take care of in some shape. Although this will not stop the nefarious business at Wooster, it certainly will have a tendency to check it considerably; and it shows what can be effected by legal action when energetically used by the right sort of men.

Many of our young men, and numerous others not so young, seem much interested that the Y. M. C. A. rooms afford them with ample facilities for reading, that they are gladly availing themselves of its advantages, and every evening the place is filled and sometimes crowded with quiet, attentive readers. We hope this state of things will continue, and even increase. One thing we will assume the tendency to suggest, and that is, as many of these young men who want to improve their spare time in reading, and have now a place of pleasant resort every evening, where shall they go on Sundays? If the rooms are shut up on this day they seem at loss as to how to put in the time. That appeared to be the case last Sunday, and the only way to obviate this difficulty is to keep the reading room open on Sundays as well as other days.

We hear complaints of hard times, yet we may pass S. A. Connals's Hardware store where we will, they are always busy and receiving new goods daily. And we see him this morning starting for New York and will no doubt buy the finest and largest stock of hardware that has ever been brought to this city.

For the best and largest assortment of Gents Collars, Neckties, Gloves, Suspenders and Cuffs go to N. Minich's.

Our friend, I. S. Crooks is progressing in the paper business. He is adding to his variety daily, and will soon have an assortment sufficiently varied to suit every inquirer.

There are apprehensions that the potato bug is going to be troublesome the coming season. This may be one of the results of a mild winter.

For spring styles of ladies' and childrens' HATS, BONNETS, LACES, FLOWERS, and other Trimmings for hats and bonnets, go to N. Minich's.

The little storms which we have experienced within the last few days, if they are the manifestations of equinoctial visitations, we can't complain of their severity. But it does look as if we are not to have very cold weather hereafter, as reports inform us that this mildness pervades the whole country.

If you want to get good HATS or CAPS, and save money, go to N. Minich's hat store, corner of Main and Mill streets, Massillon.

Briggs Bros. of Rochester, N. Y., have sent us their large and beautifully printed catalogue of flowers, vegetables and seeds for 1871. Their list embraces a vast variety, and the superbly printed colored specimens exhibit a richness and combination of colors truly admirable. People interested in cultivating the beautiful will do well to send for a catalogue.

The Ladies Home Relief Society will meet Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. Sackett.

NEW FIRM—NEW GOODS.—We are now receiving a fresh supply of dried, canned and green fruits, lettuce, radishes, onions, and pea plant, with a fresh supply of new teas bought since the great decline in prices. Call and see us at the old stand of McDonald & Bruce. Thankful for past favors we hope by strict attention to business to merit a continuance of the same. BRUCE & ULENENDORFF.

Cheering Fact for the Billions.

Every day demonstrates more clearly that liver complaint, in all its distressing forms, can be controlled and cured without difficult case, but its obstinacy is not proof against the persistent, remedial and restorative operation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. That genial corrective compels the organ to do its duty. It must secrete regularly and healthfully under the influence of the Bitters. The restoration brings it back into the laws of health. If there is costiveness, it disappears; if there is side-ache or back ache, it ceases; if the skin and the white of the eyes are tinged with superfluous bile, they recover their natural hue; if the appetite is gone, it returns; if the digestion is impaired, it is regulated; in brief, whatever the symptoms of the complaint may be, and whatever the phase it has assumed, a cure is certain. Such are the uniform effects of this preparation where bilious disease has been already developed; but in cases where there is merely a constitutional tendency to hyper-complaint, it may be prevented by the use of this palatable antidote. These are proven facts, and should be seriously pondered by all persons of bilious habit.

'Are the pictures which you brought home from Europe all landscapes?' said an artist to Mrs. Sholdy, one day. 'Lord, bless you, no,' replied the indignant lady; 'they're all portraits!'

An eccentric citizen of St. Louis died recently, and left in his will $1,000 to a man, who ten years before, had run away with his wife. One of the last things he said was that he never forgot a favor.

DR. WHITTESEY, Enq.

Dear Sir:—Having stated it verbally to you, I have no

We often wonder, says a writer in the Richmond Whig, where the poor go to church. When our blessed Lord delivered that matchless address on the "Mount," we can not conceive of the possibility of these being any charge. Those precious utterances—"Blessed are the poor in spirit," "Blessed are the meek," "Blessed are the peacemakers"—flowed from those divine lips free as the breezes, and layish as the all pervading light. And so we can imagine the proto-martyr Stephen proclaiming, not only before the Sanhedrin, but to all the people of Jerusalem, without money and without price, "Howbeit the Most High dwelleth not in temples made with hands." There would be something shocking to our ideas of the loftiness and elevation maintained by the early missionaries of the Cross to associate with their preaching such a thing as "reserved seats" or a dress circle.

And yet we have these things in our modern churches. There are particular churches which are recognized as "fashionable." There is no need there to apprehend anything that will shock the most thorough bred persons. People are expected to be well—if not elegantly—dressed. The latest bonnets—the most dazzling silks—select them as the fittest theatre for their exhibition. Of course these privileges have to be paid for. The "best people" are to be found in a certain position of the church. People who have large families and small incomes get pews near the door and to the right and left aisles. People who have no incomes—they sit in the gallery—or, most likely, stay at home. It is positively an expensive thing to hear the gospel in our towns.

It is a matter of some surprise to us that some of the more attractive city churches do not set the example of charging an admission fee—say a dollar a head. People who have money are, we take it, just as willing to spend it at church as at a theatre, for the same entertainment. It would at all events be a good idea to combine the two features of rented pews and the sale of tickets for single performances. Strangers (with money of course) often want to go to churches, and do not wish to intrude into a private box—and such are perfectly willing to pay seventy-five cents or $1 to hear good music and see the elite of the city.

There is another recommendation we would make to the church, which is this: We would recommend to them to build a number of free churches in the plain quarters of every considerable town for the use of the masses of the people. There are plenty of people with souls to be saved, who never have a chance under the present system. They have nowhere to sit, or if they have, they have no fine clothes. They are not willing when they go to church to be reminded that they belong to the poor people. The church is no place for distinction of classes. It is a dead level.

SOME OLD WATCHES.

On the Waltham table at the Woman's Bazaar there is a case of curious old watches to be seen, some of them the oldest in the country. These show the progressive steps of watch making since 1300 up to the present time. Among them is one made by Luncheon at Orleans, about the year 1300, before the screws or hair springs were used. It is a small silver watch, the barrel and fusee, and the power is communicated from one to the other by means of a horse hair or something of that kind.

There is also a very ancient bull's eye that seems to have seen hard service; its face is scarred and its hands gone. This one was made by Alexandre fifty or sixty years later than the other. This to some extent is held together by screws, and has the hair spring and chain instead of the horse hair. Though old and full of years it yet retains some vitality. Both of these watches have the verge escapement, which requires them to be twice as thick as those now made.

Another one is very curious in construction and interesting from association. This belonged to the Duke of Wellington, and was obtained from Grattan when he was last in this country. It is large enough to fill a watch pocket three times the present size. The carving on the gold case represents a battle field, with tents, cannon and implements of war; on one side is an elephant, indicating the battle to have been in the east. Rising above the scene is the Rock of Gibraltar, upon which is planted the British lion and flag; in the distance the rising sun is seen between the pillars of Hercules. The case and carving are of different colored gold. On the white enameled face are indicators of the day of the week, of the month, the changes of the moon, with second, minute and hour hands. It strikes the hours and quarters regularly, and will do this at any time by touching a spring, thus giving to the ear the time within a quarter of an hour.

It is a good argument in favor of the appointment of women to political office that among the two hundred or more postmistresses in the United States, not one has, so far, been charged with defalcation.

The most dismal invention is a stone company's device of non-stone coffins. But it is comforting to read: "They are a handsome article, and just what has long been needed in the way of an outside coffin."

A western paper says: "We reported that Mr. D. A. Dodd's wife had seven pairs of twins and two odd children during ten years of married life. We were wrong. Mr. Dodd, just in our office, informs us that there are eight pairs of twins, and, and three odd ones, nineteen in all—ten girls and nine boys—in fourteen years, and they are all living."

A live cat was found in a mail bag at a town in Maine one day last week. The postmaster made a diligent search through all the U. S. postage laws to ascertain the amount of postage on the animal, but found nothing to meet the case.

DOCTOR OLIN,

Engaged and most successful in Chicago, in the treatment of general, acute, and all chronic diseases. All venereal diseases, Syphilis or Mercurial affections of the Throat, Skin, or bones are treated with unparalleled success. Syphilis, Scars, Debility and Impotency, as the result of self-abuse in youth, excesses in mature years, or other causes, and producing some of the following effects: Nocturnal emissions, blotches on the face, dimness of sight, confusion of ideas, evil humors, aversion to society, loss of memory, and sexual power, rendering marriage improper and life miserable, are permanently cured. The Doctor's opportunities in hospital and private practice are unsurpassed in Chicago or any other city. Office, parlors, laboratory, and appointments are unrivaled in the west and unsurpassed anywhere. Age, with experience, can be relied upon and the doctor can refer to many physicians throughout the country. In past success and present position he stands without a competitor. The writings of a physician whose reputation is union wide should be worth reading. Doctor Olin publishes a Medical Pamphlet relating to Venereal Diseases, and the distinctions and varied consequences of Self Abuse, that will be sent to any address in plain sealed envelope for two stamps, price of Pamphlet to Ladies one stamp. Many physicians introduce patients to the Doctor for reading his medical pamphlet. Communications confidential. Consultations by letter or at the office, free. Office central, yet retired, No. 102 Washington street, Chicago. Hours, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sundays 1 a.m. to 12 m. 394 ly Without boasting of being an organ of immense influence, we may with diffidence claim that the paper is not without usefulness in the right direction, ever contending for justice on all the living issues of the day. But its principal business has ever been to subserve the local interests of the community with which it is identified, and so it proposes to continue. Its home record of the ever-varying phases of business, of the prosperity of the city, and of the social and moral state of society here, with other matters too numerous to specify, will give those who come after us, and have occasion to examine the files of this paper, a faithful history of the years of its existence.

Office on Main street, four doors east of the American Hotel.

All consultations and examinations of patients made free of charge.

Dr. Long examines and explains your disease without asking any questions. If he understands your case you know it, and cannot be deceived. If he cannot tell your disease, and how you feel without asking questions he does not consider himself competent to treat your case. This is the criterion to go by, and patients should not be satisfied with any other. This is the only direct and positive evidence of my ability as a scientific physician, and by this standard I am willing to be judged.

A proper diagnosis of local disease, without constitutional symptoms, that is not affecting the system generally, must depend upon the judgment of both patient and physician.

Give Dr. Long a call, and satisfy yourself whether he understands your cases sufficiently well to treat them successfully.

Dr. Long may be consulted in the German and English languages. Address letters, JAMES LONG, M. D., Massillon, Ohio.

It is self evident that the physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire a greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be sent by mail or express.

The doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail, in sealed envelope, for two stamps. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

GOLDEN DISCOVERY

The originator of this wonderful medicine, claims to have discovered and combined in harmony more of Nature's most sovereign medical properties than was ever before embodied in one medicine. The evidence of this fact is found in the great variety of most obstinate diseases which it has been found to conquer. In the cure of Bronchitis and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it one of the greatest medical discoveries of the age. By its great and thorough blood purifying properties, it cures all humors, and the works of Scrofula to a common People of Eruption. Mineral Poisons, Syphilis and Venereal Diseases, and their effects are eradicated and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Fever Sores, in short all the numerous diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine, run Liver Complaints, Bilious Disorders, and Habitual Constipation. It has produced hundreds of perfect and permanent cures where other medicine has failed.

The proprietor offers $1,000 reward for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all the diseases for which it is recommended. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my private Government Stamp, which is a positive guarantee of Genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. This medicine is sold by Druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Prepared by R. V. PIERCE, M.
